

CORPORATE OUTREACH SERVICE

Privilege corporate-school tie up

Gyaananda School, in its endeavour to spread more meaningful, value based and experiential learning experience to the society at large, is reaching out to corporates that house discerning and engaging parents who aspire to give their children an education of abilities and possibilities.

With changing times and trends, working parents find hard to trot around schools in the city, evaluate them on various scales and parameters and eventually zero down on the one chosen institute and furthermore make umpteen visits for paperwork. In such times, it is but essential for a reputed institute in the vicinity with a track record of graded and progressive growth and development of children to reach out to a segment of a corporate house with working parents who share our philosophy of education.
